

Advisory Board Unveiled For the Campus Technology Conference 2017

Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. (May 10, 2017) – The Campus Technology Conference \(Campus Tech\), a higher education technology event produced by LRP Conferences, LLC, an affiliate of LRP Publications, announced today its advisory board of academic, administrative, and technology experts from colleges and universities nationwide. These advisory board members are integral in developing and planning each Campus Technology Conference. This year they have helped to expand conference content offerings available to attendees of Campus Tech 2017.

“Our goal is to ensure that our annual program responds to emerging challenges and looks ahead to identify new directions in order to best serve the wide range of professional development needs of the higher education technology community,” said conference Program Chair John Hess. “This exceptional group of campus leaders is vital to that process.”

The Campus Technology 2017 advisory board members include:

- Jill Albin-Hill, Vice President for Information Technology and Chief Information Officer, Dominican University
- W. Gardner Campbell, Associate Professor of English, Virginia Commonwealth University
- Ronald L. Danielson, Associate Professor of Computer Engineering, Santa Clara University
- Mark Frydenberg, Senior Lecturer of Computer Information Systems and Director of CIS Learning and Technology Sandbox, Bentley University
- Joy Hatch, Former Vice President for Technology, Fort Hays State University
- Raymond Uzwyszyn, Director of Collections and Digital Services, Texas State University
- Anu Vedantham, Director of Learning and Teaching Services for Harvard College Libraries, Harvard University

Over 1,000 professionals — including CIOs, CTOs, chief academic officers, higher education administrators, IT managers, Instructional designers, technologists, faculty and support staff — from all over the United States and 19+ countries converge at Campus Technology to gain hands-on exposure to the latest technologies and successful implementation strategies through keynotes, mega sessions, workshops, concurrent sessions, the expo hall and more.

Campus Technology 2017 will provide higher education professionals access to more than 30 sessions in seven distinct tracks that will dig into relevant topics for IT leaders, hands-on faculty and technologists. Additionally, attendees will have the opportunity to gain expanded topic coverage through New Mega Sessions, more preconference workshops and enhanced poster sessions. The keynote speakers include Jennifer Golbeck, Director of the Social Intelligence Lab and Associate Professor in the College of Information Studies at the University of Maryland, College Park; Jeffrey Selingo, Author, and contributor for The Washington Post; as well as Robin Hanson, Associate Professor of Economics at the George Mason University, and Research Associate at the Future of Humanity Institute at University of Oxford.

Campus Tech 2017 will be held July 17 - 20 at Chicago's McCormick Place Convention Center. Registration is now open. For additional details and to register, visit www.CampusTechnologyConferences.com.
